Course Description

Understanding of International Relations

This is an introductory course on International Relations theories and methods. This course provides an overview of the activities, participants, and politics involved in International Relations at the state and local levels. By the end of the course, students should be conversant in basic IR theory and have the intellectual equipment to understand, criticize, and apply these (and other) theories of international relations. The course is also designed to provide students with an understanding of the potential and limitations of theory in the study of international politics.

Sailing Yacht

This course is designed to provide students with an understanding of basic concepts in sailing. Students who successfully complete this course should be able to achieve knowledge of different types of knots and boats, and parts of a yacht as well as the history and theory of sailing. This course consists of lectures(1st week) and practical training(2nd-3rd week).

Korean Culture with a Foreign Perspective

Korean Culture with a Foreign Perspective will be discussed based on Communicative Approach and designed to have international and exchange students who are interested in issues in Korean society gain more understanding about the issues by performing various communicative tasks. Furthermore, by comparing the issues in Korean society with theirs, students can experience a certain degree of universality and particularity in social issues.
